MAYA SITES

Archeologists believe that the first organized Maya settlements were built in Central America starting around 2600 BC. Originating in what is now the Yucatan Peninsula of Mexico, the Maya began expanding. At the zenith of their civilization, the Maya controlled a vast network of trade routes and majestic stone cities down through Central America all the way to what is now the nation of El Salvador.

MAYA PEOPLE

Today, the descendants of the Maya continue to preserve their rich cultural heritage, including making medicinal compounds from the plants in the rainforest and beautifully colored traditional clothing with complex geometrical designs.

The heartland of that vast ancient Maya empire was Belize. Today, the country has more ancient ruins, monuments, sacred caves, and pyramids than anywhere else on the planet. Impressive cities like Caracol, Altun Ha, and Xunantunich are testaments to the Maya's ingenuity and include large ball courts, majestic palaces, and elaborately carved stelae and friezes that depict the ancient rulers that once dominated the region.

CAVES

These caves were revered by the ancient Maya, who considered caves the portal to the underworld. They built altars to their dead and performed their most secret, solemn rituals in these caves. Archaeologists and travelers still find Maya artifacts deep in these crevices. What will you find?

We enjoyed a completely hassle free vacation by letting the team at Barefoot Services lead by Megs and Ian coordinate all our Placencia transfers and tour activities. They seamlessly provided on time transfers to and from the airport, our golf cart rental while in Placencia, and a terrific variety of tours - you can even customize your own, but better to leave it to Megs, she is the booking genius. Megs even coordinated our sailing/ snorkeling trip through another provider. And Ian is a wealth of knowledge. A certified tour operator, he is knowledgeable about everything Belize. He and his team of certified tour guides made every trip memorable. We highly recommend this organization!

We booked 2 tours with Barefoot and both were tremendous. The first was a snorkeling trip to Laughing Bird Caye. It was the first time our 11 year old son snorkeled and the guide paid extra attention to him and made his first time special. He even taught him to free dive. The second was a custom tour to visit the Mayan ruins at Xunantunich and explore the Mennonite culture. Our guide Ian was exceptionally knowledgeable about all of Belize culture and even did his own research on the Mennonite culture to ensure we would have a great experience. I highly recommend this company for their exceptional service.

My wife and I booked a tour of Xunantunich and swimming in one of the inland blue holes with Barefoot Services. Our guide Ian was top notch and extremely knowledgeable! I don't think you'll find anymore more well versed about the history and culture of the area, or someone who clearly loves what they do so much! In addition to the tour lunch was provided at a local restaurant and we got to taste the local cuisine.

Prices were very reasonable, travel van was excellent with cold AC haha, and they pick you right up from your resort.

From the sounds of it they have a ton of choices of tours and adventures no matter what you're into. Check them out!

I recently experienced a barefoot tour of historical sites and Mayan ruins and I must say it was an incredible experience. The tour was well-organized and Ian our tour guide was very knowledgeable about the whole country and history and culture of the Mayan people.

One of the highlights of the tour was visiting the ancient Mayan ruins of Xunantunich. The site was breathtaking and Ian provided a wealth of information about the Mayan civilization that once thrived there. We were able to climb to the top of the tallest temple and take in the stunning views of the surrounding jungle.

Another highlight of the tour was visiting the Cahal Pech Mayan site. It was fascinating to learn about the daily life of the Mayan people and their advanced knowledge of astronomy and mathematics. The site was also very well-preserved, which made it easy to imagine what life was like for the ancient Mayans.

I really appreciated the time of the tour, which allowed us to connect more closely with nature and the ancient sites we were visiting.

Overall, I highly recommend this barefoot tour. It was definitely a unique and unforgettable way to experience the rich history and culture of this beautiful country.
